SYSTEMS OF CARE DIVISION (ISCD) STAFF

SUBJECT: TELE-SPEECH, AUDITORY HABILITATION AND REHABILITATION
SERVICES WITH THE HOME AS THE ORIGINATING SITE.

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Numbered Letter (N.L.) is to create policy for children with hearing loss regarding tele-speech, tele-auditory verbal therapy, tele-auditory habilitation and tele-auditory rehabilitation services in the home, with the parent or guardian working with the speech therapist at the distant site.

II. BACKGROUND

There is a strong need for access to tele-speech therapy, auditory verbal therapy, auditory habilitation and rehabilitation services in order to meet the needs of the hearing loss community, especially those in rural and remote areas of California. In particular, successful outcomes of cochlear implantation are highly dependent on the quality and quantity of speech language/habilitation and rehabilitation services. Studies have shown the quality of tele-therapy to be equivalent to face-to-face sessions, as well as decreased parental stress and decreased costs of travel, lost wages, etc., associated with travelling long distances for therapy sessions.

Speech therapy should occur in the least restrictive environment. For children under five years of age, or for children with mobility or cognitive age equivalency under five years old, this is generally in the home.

Teaching parents how to encourage hearing and oral communication in the home, where the child with hearing loss may be immersed, is appropriate and efficacious for successful speech, language, and oral communication outcomes.

III. POLICY

- A. CCS approved Cochlear Implant Centers, Communication Disorder Centers, Type C, and private and public telehealth providers will be able to bill all reimbursable telehealth speech therapy codes allowed under EPSDT and CCS, including those listed in the table below, with the home as the point of service and the parent or primary caretaker as the originating site facilitator:
