Understanding Child Welfare & Probation

- » At the local level, HCPCFC programs conduct program activities in close partnership with their Child Welfare Services (CWS) and Probation counterparts and are expected to strive to coordinate and integrate activities to the extent possible.
- » The assigned Social Worker (SW) or Probation Officer (PO) is the primary case manager, with HCPCFC providing secondary management functions for matters relating to medical, dental, behavioral, and developmental health.
- » All HCPCFC staff must understand the organizations with which they work, in order to align program functions to best support the population served, and the members of their care team.
